Forecast For Northern Ireland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Wednesday 16 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Clear spells tonight. Showers developing on Thursday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Mostly dry this evening with some late sunshine. The rest of the night will be dry with lengthy clear periods, rather cool in some rural areas. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Thursday:
A dry sunny start. Cloud will build from the west through the morning with scattered showers spreading east from around midday. Turning dry and brighter in the east from mid-afternoon. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Dry and bright on Friday and Saturday. Likely to become more unsettled with the chance of some rain by Sunday. Some chilly nights.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.